DEVELOPMENT

TUNNEL FETE SUNDAY

All eyes are on the Contra Costa-Alameda County Low Level Tunnel next Sunday when dignitaries and citizens from all bay and valley communities, particularly from the counties concerned, will attend.

Governor Merriam is to be the principal speaker. Breakfas for 750 to 1,000 will be served at the Claremont Hotel, in Berkeley, followed by the ceremonies at the West Portal (Alameda County side.) Then Governor Merriam will blow down the mock barricade and with colors flying the cavalcade will whizz through the bore to the Contra Costa side where Contra Costa County will have charge of the celebration. Our speakers will include Governor Merriam, Supervisor Board Chairman William Buchanan, State Highway Commissioner Ray Judah; Brother Leo of St. Mary's College; and Attorney Arch Tinning.

The tunnel will then be open to traffic.

CRIME

D. A. WINS POINT

District Attorney Francis P. Healey won a point in the Pinho case when after vigorous argument backed up by citations, Superior Judge Thos. D. Johnston reversed his previous decision, allowed Pinho's confession to be introduced as evidence.

Pinho is on trial for the murder of his cousin and room-mate Manuel Santos of Rodeo.

DEPUTIES TO UNIFORM?

Active deputies in Sheriff John A. Miller's office will shortly appear in uniform. We assume this order will apply only to those deputies whose work is in the office and jail; and not necessarily to those whose mission it is to capture the dangerous criminals.

LODGES

ELK'S CHARITY SHOW

Next Thursday and Friday night at the RUHS auditorium will take place the annual Elk's Charity Show.

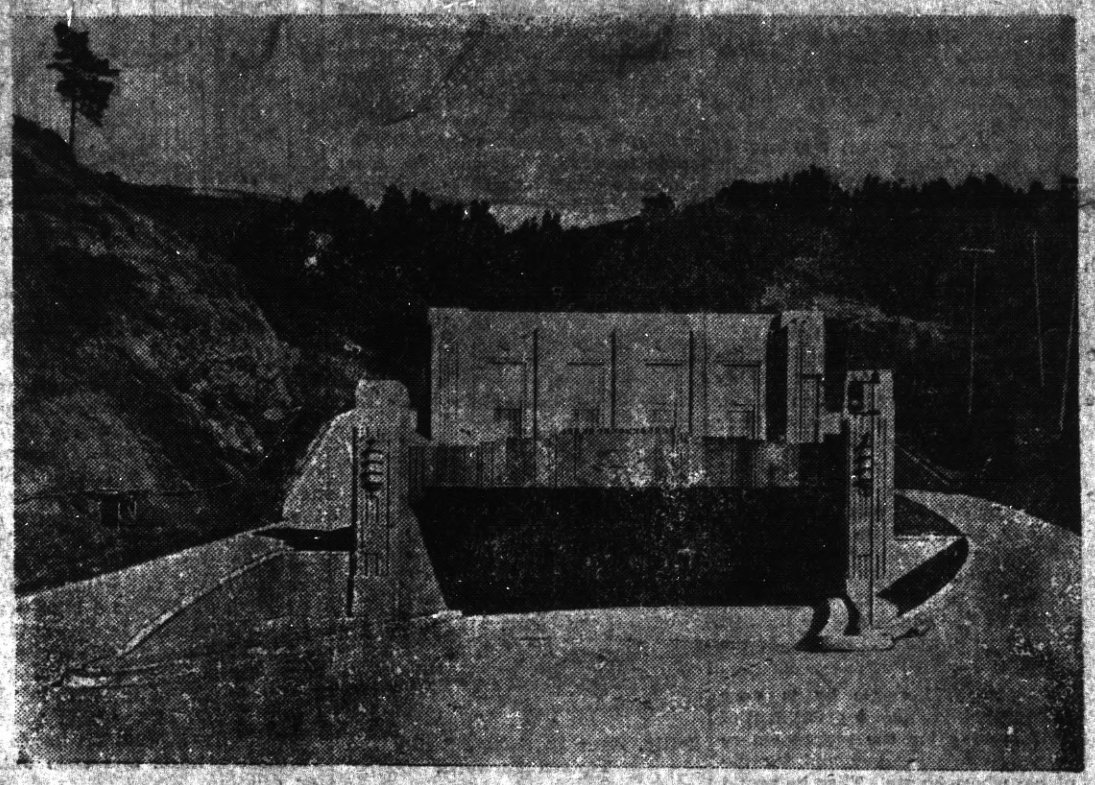
As we have heretofore stated in years past we consider this activity most worthy of BPOE causes. Ever since there has been an Elk's order there have been baskets for needy families at Christmas time. It is that kind of a group of men. And the proceeds of the show go to help out on this benevolent deed —so go to the show, everybody.

Feaures of the performance include a minstrel first-part and a musical comedy as an olio in which such famous Richmond thespians as Councilman Frank Tyler, Elk's Secretary Ed Dale, Charlie Drake, Doc Fraser, Al Furrer and others take part.

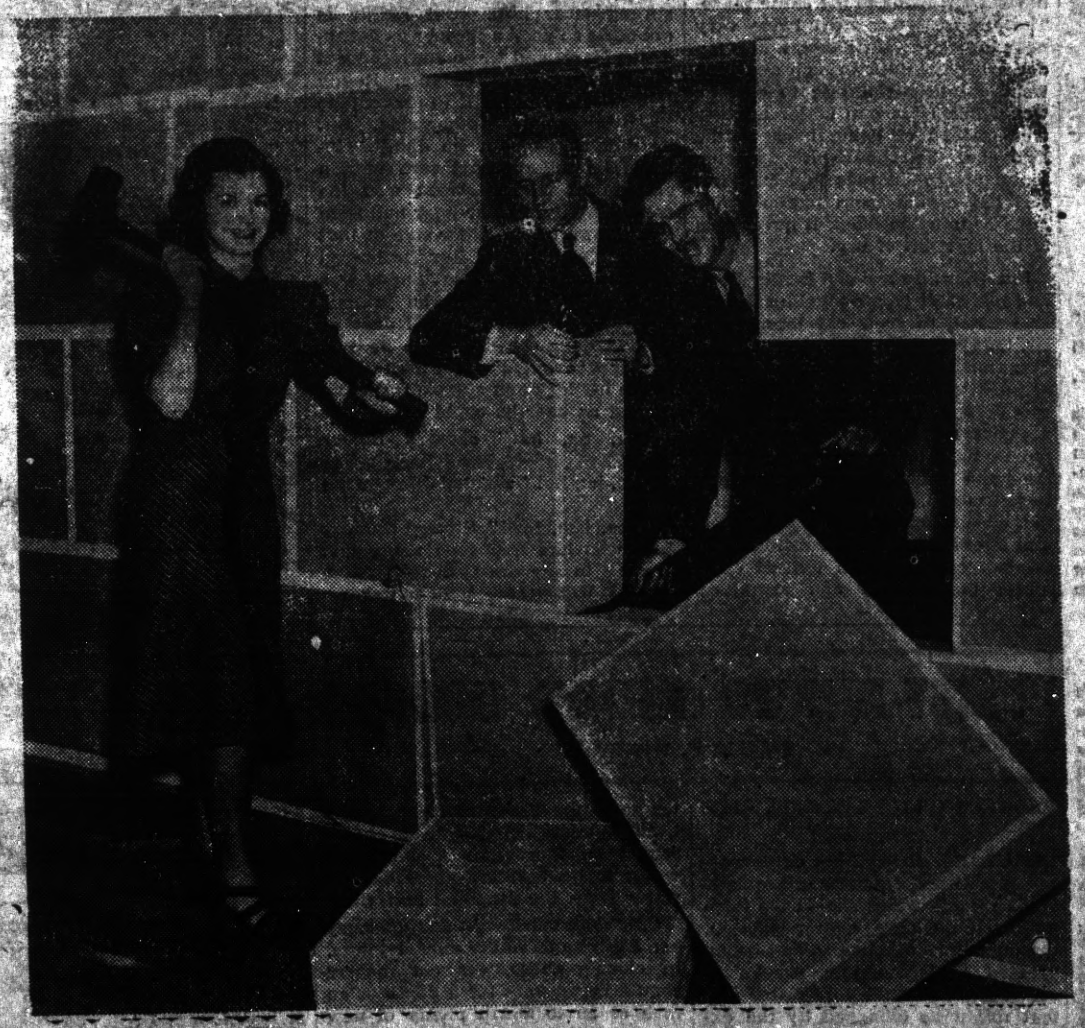
Effects of Sounds

Intense sounds can produce luminescence in at least fourteen liquids, among which are glycerine, nitrobenzene and ethylene glycol.—Collier's Weekly.

Scenes of Important Inter-County Low Level Tunnel



Above is shown the West Portal—(on the Alameda-Contra Costa County Low Level Tunnel, now completed, which will result in a great development of the central and eastern portions of Conra Costa County. Celebration will be held next Sunday in an elaborate program, inaugurated by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Oakland, and participated in by many other organizations including the active Contra Costa County Development Association.



Pauline Golson, Harry Bell, and Gale Bollinger of the Dedication Committee, wanted to be sure the huge set piece that is to cover the Broadway Tunnel Entrance just prior to the opening on December 5th, would work. After some hard work, they found out it would.

CITY GOVERNMENT

LOCAL LIQUOR CONTROL

Principal topic of discussion at Monday night's council meeting was the subject of city control of local liquor traffic. The council is agreed on desiring all authority. The liquor dealers, from research, we find want a curb on new licenses. The drys want prohibition. And the PROGRESS wants what will probably happen:—a further measure of local control, but with sufficient state control to eliminate too much civic favoritism.

Question arose on protest of the license of P. Vargas for the Richmond Athletic Club on Second Street. Chief Jones given authority to appear before SBE bord at Martinez and protest the application for liquor license at that location.

TRANSPORTATION

The first of what we assume will be an interminable series of continuations in the proposed rate reductions for Carquinez and the Antioch Bridges was today granted by R. R. Commissioner Ray Riley.

So it goes. Just the same, we say: all power to Assemblyman Harold F. Sawallisch for pushing his fight in the matter. The going is tough, but we will bet on Harold to win his battle for the lower rates.

POLITICS

PORT COSTA POSTOFFICE

All we know about the now much discussed situation at Port Costa whereln Chairman Mulcahy is reported to have tried to replace the present Democratic Incumbent, appointed by President Wilson 22 years ago is what a fellow committeeman phoned us as we go to press.

Withholding comment, as a county committeeman we will attend the regular meeting next Tuesday night at Martinez, find out what the people of Port Costa are up in arms about as is reported.

SPORTS

RICHMOND HI TO BOWL?

Principal Item of interest to local football fans is the possibility that Richmond High's champion football team may play a preliminary game in the Rose Bowl with a championship high school team from Southern California. Let's hope they get it. All local and county booster organizations favor the plan.

Our choice, in order named, for University of California's Rose Bowl Opponent: 1) Pittsburg; 2) Fordham; 3) Dartmouth; 4) Alabama. But we would guess that the "last shall be first and the first shall be last for many are called" —but only one is chosen!

BEDTIME STORY

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

BUSTER BEAR PLAYS A TRICK

BUSTER BEAR and Jumper the Hare had had their heads together. This doesn't mean that they really touched heads. Oh, my no! No, indeed! Jumper is too wise to get so close to Buster Bear as that. It means that they had made plans together. If Reddy Fox had known about those plans Reddy would certainly have kept away from that part of the Green Forest. But he didn't know about them, and so he didn't keep away from that part of the Green Forest.

You see, it was there that Jumper the Hare spent most of his time, and so it was there that Reddy was spending most of his time now, for he was bound that he would catch Jumper to pay him for making him the laughing stock of all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. At first Reddy had been afraid, very much afraid, that he might meet Buster Bear there. He had kept his eyes wide open for Buster, for, if the truth be known, he was as much afraid of Buster as Jumper was of him. But as day after day he saw nothing of Buster he grew careless. He made up his mind that Buster had gone back to the Great Woods from which he had come, and he thought of nothing but catching Jumper the Hare.

So Reddy, because he is very smart and sly, spent a great deal of time looking for the places where Jumper made his bed and for the places where he ate. Then he would hide near one of these and wait patiently for Jumper to come. But somehow Jumper always went to a place where Reddy was not hiding. The truth is, Jumper knew perfectly what Reddy was doing, and so he never went twice to the same place. That is, he never went twice very near together. If he took a nap under a big hemlock branch and then went out to get a bite to eat, he would finish his nap under another tree instead of going back to the first one. So, though Reddy often found places Jumper had just left and hid beside them patiently for Jumper to come back, it never was of the least bit of use.

But after Jumper and Buster Bear had had their heads together Jumper seemed to grow careless. Yes, sir, that is the way it seemed. Reddy Fox noticed it right away and grinned wickedly. Three times he saw Jumper dozing just in front of a great fallen tree. Then for a fourth time he saw Jumper sit in the same place. By and by Jumper began to nod. Then his eyes closed in the sleepiest way. Reddy grinned and licked his chops. Jumper's eyes opened, closed again, opened once more, then closed and remained closed. Reddy watched a long time before he stirred, but there was no sign from Jumper the Hare. He certainly looked to be fast, very fast, asleep.

Softly, ever so softly, Reddy Fox tiptoed forward. Jumper did not move. A few steps nearer, and still Jumper seemed fast asleep. Reddy stopped long enough to grin, a wicked, hungry grin. This time he would catch Jumper and then he would see if the other people would laugh at and make fun of him any more! Softly, softly, very, very softly he stole forward until with one great jump he would be able to land right on poor Jumper. Very, very carefully Reddy fixed his hind legs to make the spring, and then—well—then he landed right exactly where Softly, Ever So Softly, Reddy Fox Tiptoed Forward.

Jumper had been, but wasn't. You see, Jumper had been just pretending to be asleep, and when Reddy had jumped, he had jumped, too.

Now, Jumper had jumped right over the old tree trunk and Reddy sprang after him. But Reddy is not quite so good a jumper as Jumper the Hare, and while Jumper went clear over the fallen tree, Reddy landed on top of it, meaning to jump down on the other side. But he didn't. No, sir, he didn't. Instead he fell off backward with a scream of fright. What was the trouble? Why, Buster Bear had been lying down on the other side of that old tree, and when Jumper leaped over it Buster knew that Reddy was close at hand, and so he jumped up with a dreadful growl. Just as he had done the first time he saw Buster Bear, Reddy put his tail between his legs and started for home as fast as ever he could go.

"Ha, ha, ha!" shouted Buster Bear.

"Ho, ho, ho!" shouted Jumper the Hare.

"Hee, hee, hee!" tittered Sammy Jay, who had happened along just in time to see the fun.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Thumbtack Your Draperies to a Board.

TO GIVE draperies the smartly tailored effect obtained by the professional decorator, a valance board must be used. A straight one by two inch board will be needed. A small finishing nail in the top of the window casing near each end and screw eyes placed near the top of the back of the valance board will hold it in place as shown at A. Both side drapes and valance may be thumbtacked to the board and then be quickly hung all at once by hooking the screw eyes over the finishing nails. Think of the advantage on cleaning day! Just lift board and all off the nails and take outside for dusting.

Tack the side drapes to the board first as at B, arranging fullness in flat pleats. In making the valance, allow enough material to fold around the ends of the board as at C; then tack it along the top, stretching it just enough so that it is perfectly smooth.

The valance shown here is made of glazed chintz and matches the glazed chintz border that faces the edges of the side drapes. The glass curtains may be hung just inside the window frame or to the bottom of the valance board.

Every Homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book, SEWING. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables; restoring and upholstering chairs, couches; making curtains for every type of room and purpose. Making lampshades, rugs, ottomans and other useful articles for the home. Readers wishing a copy should send name and address, enclosing 25 cents, to Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplaines St., Chicago, Illinois.

FIRST-AID TO AILING HOUSE

PROTECT CRACKS AGAINST ICE

A CRACK in anything outdoors—woodwork, concrete, masonry—will be made wider should ice form within it. Before winter sets in, the outside of a house should be inspected to locate any cracks or crevices that would hold water and that might be enlarged by the expansion that occurs when ice forms. Stucco walls should be under special notice. Small surface cracks can be disregarded; the cracks to look out for are the deep ones in which water will be retained. A crack in stucco should be widened with a cold chisel, so that a patch can be packed deeply within. The patching material is a mixture of 1 part cement with 3 parts of clean building sand, and only enough water to make the mixture. At the time the crack is patched, the stucco should be thoroughly soaked with water to prevent the absorption of water from the patching material.

Cracks in brickwork and masonry are likely to be in the mortar joints. In closing these, the old mortar should be dug out for a depth of an inch or so to admit plenty of new mortar.

Special care should be taken to close all cracks in clapboards. Small cracks can be closed with thick paint; deeper ones with white lead, used either as it comes or smeared on cotton wicking or heavy cord. In particular, the joints of clapboards at corners should be noted; for it is there that cracking will be especially serious.

Prof. and Mrs. Haley to Europe

Prof. and Mrs. John Haeley of 770 Ocean Avenue are arranging a visit to Europe plan to be in Paris on New Year's Day.

They will embark on the S.S. Normandie in New York on the day after Christmas, leaving Pt. Richmond immediately after the holiday vacation starts at U. C. Haley is a member of the art faculty there and is already receiving acclaim for his canvasses and it is reasonable to expect some fine results from the tour of the John Haleys through the Mediterranean countries this spring. They will be gone about six months for the purpose of painting and sketching many interesting points.

Mrs. T. T. Cramer has returned to her home on Martina street after a pleasant visit with her sister Mrs. Daisy Bell of Topeka, Kansas. Mrs. Bell has been a frequent visitor at the Point and has a host of friends here who always welcome her visits.

Berwick, young son of Mr. and Mrs. George V. Johnson, attends a private school in Berkeley, spent the holidays with his parents on the Bay Shore.

MISS CLARA UDY IS WED AT GRASS VALLEY HOME

A marriage of interest to Pt. Richmondites was that of Miss Clara Lucille Udy, formerly of this city, to Mr. Roy C. Cooney on Thanksgiving Day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Udy in Gress Valley.

Several old friends of the Udys here went to the famous California city to witness the ceremony.

Gerald Francis Fisi Arrives

Born to popular Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fisi, of Montana Avenue, is ten-pound, bouncing boy, Gerald Francis. Mother and son are doing fine; and Richmond looks forward with pleasure to the time when "Jerry" will take his place in this city alongside of Grandfather John, Papa Mike and Older Brother Donald. Mr. Michael Fisi, for many years an employee of the Certain-teed, recently accepted a position as salesman for the Richmond Steam Laundry Company, and is meeting with the success his natural friendliness and energy so richly deserve. Congratulations on the new arrival.

TOWNSEND CLUB DOINGS

The Townsend Club of Point Richmond will be at the home of Mrs. Lorenz Emig, 107 West Richmond Avenue, Tuesday December 7. The business meeting will be followed by a social dance. On December 14th the Club will meet at Washington School with a special dance to which everybody is invited. On December 21, the Townsend Club will celebrate Christmas with a large Tree to which all Townsend children are invited to attend. There will be a stocking under the tree for each one at the Emig's.

P.-T. A. CARD PARTY

The Washington Parent-Teacher's Association is giving a public whist party in the Auditorium on December 3rd, tonight. The game will begin at 8 p.m. and it is hoped this worthy cause will receive the support it sould receive.

Mrs. J. A. Hendricks is reported improved from her recent illness.

Fred Funstons are Visitors Here

Guests this week of the W.W. Lawrences on Western Drive are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Funston, Jr., and family. Mr. Funston, whose name is rapidly becoming known in the field of aviation is a son of the famous General Fred Funston who was one of Americas great military heroes. Next to their love for aviation both Lawrence and Funston are very staunch boosters for Point Richmond, a species which is rapidly becoming more prevalent and of which we cannot have too many.

Reception by the Prof. Kauns

Professor and Mrs. Alex Kaun, internationally renowned authority on the languages of the Soviet, who resides on Western Drive in Point Richmond, held a reception for his University students on Thursday afternoon. The receptions are always looked forward to with pleasure by the students.

Santa Fe spends 125 million ..in Eleven States!

The Santa Fe, in 1936, paid out more than 125 millions of dollars for materials and supplies, fuel, wages and salaries, and other items of operating expense, in the eleven states in which it operates. The amount assignable to each state was as follows:

Illinois	$ 8,600,282	Louisiana	$ 137,989
Iowa	1,086,406	Colorado	4,865,701
Missouri	8,197,033	New Mexico	15,111,396
Kansas	27,069,366	Arizona	12,919,152
Oklahoma	9,606,664	California	21,251,768
Texas	16,216,061	Total	$125,061,818

From 1927 to 1936, inclusive, the monies disbursed by the Santa Fe in these states for operating expenses totaled $1,350,499,728.

This average annual expenditure of more than 135 millions of dollars over the past decade, devoted entirely to the purchase of goods and services, has been of inestimable value in promoting local industry and trade, and in providing varied employment for thousands of persons, throughout Santa Fe territory.

THECAULIFLO WERCOLYUM

By Frankie Neil

Former Bantamweight Champion of the World

Now that I have promised to tell you the reason why the offer of the Australian promoters was not accepted wa a casualty to me—for it would have probably made me the bantamweight champion of Australia as well.

As I was to take the next boat back to Australia I was all primed to go as soon as the ship would leave on the next trip after we landed in San Francisco.

But before we arrived home I was boxing one day on the lower deck when a rough fellow who was boxing, rushed at me and in jumping back from his rush I tripped over a hatch rail and fell to the lower deck. I landed in a sitting position and my left hand hit the deck with such force that I broke my wrist.

That put a quietus on a second Australian trip for me.

It worked out in two ways, good and bad. The good part was that I received an offer to box the World's Champion who wsa Harry Forbes. (I told of that encounter—in which I decisively defeated Forbes in two rounds—in a previous article.

After winning the Championship of the World I was hailed as one of the greatest. It made me laugh to see some of the big shots in the sporting world who had never before noticed me now seemed to want me to be a guest at all their functions.

Having as a friend, one of the noted gamblers of the time, he approached me before the contest and wanted me to visit Millionaire Harry Clark of Montana at the Palace Hotel, which we did.

Mr. Clark looked at me as if I were a child, shook hands, and asked about my condition. "I never felt better," I replied. He looked at my friend and said, "Bet all the money you can get covered."

We left the hotel and went on up town on foot. Outside of taxicabs, automobiles were very scarce then, and expensive.

Anyway, I won from Forbes, and I will tell you of the celebration that followed the winning of the world's championship in my next article.

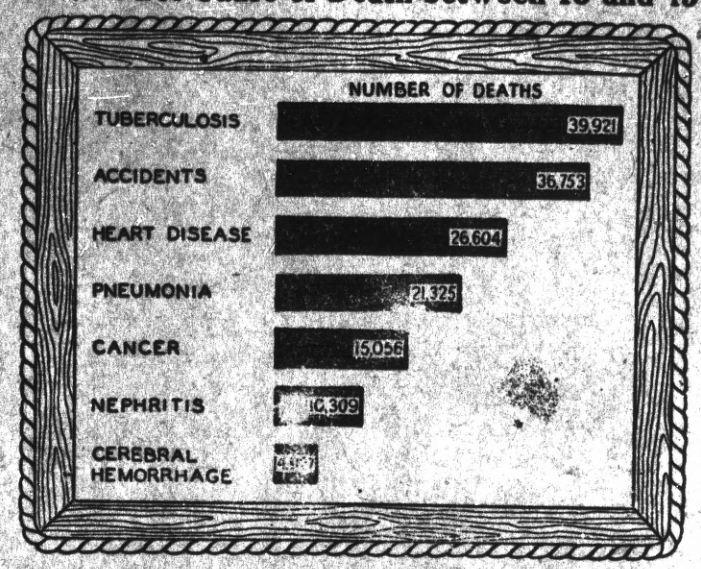
Duration of Glacial Period

It has been estimated that the duration of the glacial period could not have been much less than 500,000 years, and estimates seem to show that the ice retreated from northern United States at least 25,000 years ago.

T.B.—First Cause of Death between 15 and 45



The illustration above, in showing the seven leading causes of death in the United States, reveals the startling fact that tuberculosis occupies first rank as the cause of death for the productive years between 15 and 45. Nearly 40,000 men and women in that age group died last year from this preventable disease. Tuberculosis accounted for almost 16 per cent of deaths from all causes during the 15 to 45 age period although it was responsible for only 5 per cent of the total mortality for all age periods. The latest statistics show that the seven leading causes of death (shown above), called by some the "Seven Horsemen of Death," continue to be led by tuberculosis as a robber of lives in these highly important years. Until tuberculosis ceases to kill our young men and women in such large numbers Christmas Seals must be used as ammunition in the war on the Great White Plague.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

STAR DUST
Movie • Radio

★★★By VIRGINIA VALE★★★

DEANNA DURBIN will do a play on Broadway early in the spring if all the experts concerned with her upbringing agree that it won't be too much of a strain on her.

Any decision affecting her welfare has to be pondered over by her mother, her manager, her vocal teacher, and the physician at Universal studios and they are all a little reluctant about adding any further public appearances to her already very public life. Until recently, Deanna could go light-heartedly about her work at motion-picture and radio studios, but lately such crowds have followed her wherever she went that it is a source of worry to everyone.

Deanna Durbin

All the tumult and hysterical shouting over Fred Allen's return to his radio program does not mean that Walter O'Keefe is being neglected or forgotten. O'Keefe so endeared himself to radio listeners while he was substituting for Fred Allen that he could have walked right into another big program, but he demanded a vacation first.

When a young newcomer to the screen steals most of the glory away from two enormously-popular stars, you can expect to see her in bigger and better parts right away. So, when you see Loretta Young and Tyrone Power in "Second Honeymoon," be all ready to clap hands for Marjorie Weaver who is the outstanding hit of this gay and giddy comedy. When the picture was previewed, Marjorie was all set to go back home to Louisville, Kentucky, to make personal appearances with the picture, but so great was the audience response to her performance, the trip was called off.

By far the gayest and most delightful of the new pictures is "It's Love I'm After," featuring Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, and Olivia de Havilland. It does not sound new, because it is that old, old story of the matinee idol, the spitfire leading woman who is in love with him, and the moonstruck young woman who blindly adores him. What is new is the refreshing, witty treatment the story has been given. Never before have the three featured players been so deft.

Leslie Howard

ODDS AND ENDS—Gertrude Berg was fairly snowed under with flowers recently when she rounded out eight years as author, producer and star of "The Goldbergs." Players love to work with her, she is so patient, so helpful, so like the compassionate Molly she plays . . . Dolores Costello makes her comeback to the screen in "Girls on Probation" and according to fellow workers it is a brilliant comeback . . . James Stewart gets the grand role opposite Joan Crawford in "Shopworn Angel." Gary Cooper played it in the version made years ago . . . George Raft is determined to be a director some day, so he has agreed to work as an apprentice in various technical departments of the studio in order to learn the business thoroughly. He can only do it when he is not acting, of course, so he is asking Paramount to give him nice, long vacations between pictures . . . John Barrymore is going to make another Bulldog Drummond picture.

Juvenile Togs Styled to a Nicety

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

NEVER, no never, have children's winter outfits been so cleverly styled as they are this season. It is not only that each is a "picture" in its bright colors and cunning details, but when it comes to being practical and protective from the elements and snugly "comfy" at all times, as fond mothers insist must be, designers have so painstakingly equipped outfits for the younger generation with "all modern improvements," cruel winds, wet-wet rain, dancing snow flurries, not even Jack Frost himself have even a ghost of a chance to get in.

As pictures speak more eloquently than all the adjectives that might be penned, let's look to our illustration for enlightenment as to what leading designers are turning out in way of children's cold-weather suits for now and the winter to be. Here we see three cunning, and as thoroughly practical as they are attractive, ensembles that all but "stole the show" as the little girls who modeled them came stepping down the runway at a children's style clinic which was held in the Merchandise Mart of Chicago a short time ago, before a vast audience of visiting merchants.

To the fond mother who delights in seeing little daughter look as if she had just stepped out of a fashion plate, the clever ballerina-back legging suit pictured to the left will prove a real find. It is one of the newest models and forecasts what the fashionable little miss will wear through the winter. Of handsome Copenhagen blue sturdy woolen coating it is styled in a novel manner of seeming to achieve a clever ballet flare. The suit has a beaver collar which, of course, will make a hit with any little girl, and crowning glory over all, it has a matching hat with fur trim. The zipped leggings offer every protection from wind and cold.

Dewberry (a new shade this season) is the color featured in the voguish fitted coachman-style coat to the right. Here is a type that will make best-dressed little girls look even better dressed for it carries an air of distinction in its every detail. Has a cape too, and when little daughter's friends see that cape they will be imploring mother to buy them one.

An adorable outfit made of a maize-colored wool of caressing softness costumes the little snow queen centered in the group. She looks just that, what with the fluffy snow-white angora edgings that trim bonnet, coat and muff. Yes, there's a little matching muff as you can see and with what pride and glee the fortunate wearer will call her admirers' attention to this precious possession. And to fill the cup of joy full to overflowing there are dainty little sprays of flowers handembroidered in the sweetest colors on the yoke and on the wee muff and on the very flattering matching bonnet.

And, by the way, since cunning winter ensembles for little folks is our theme, if there be a doting relative that longs to bestow upon your child a grand Christmas gift why not just throw a gentle hint to him or her in regard to the fur coat, muff and hat ensembles that are so pridefully shown in this season's juvenile apparel shops and departments. Or if you are thinking in terms of practical school or playtime clothes why not one of the pretty sweater and suede jerkin sets that come in such attractive colorings? Or a dressier threesome consisting of velveteen hat, coat and legging set, for legging sets are the big idea this season.

NEW BAGS ARE GAY IN CARVED HANDLES

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Suede antelope "mam'selle" handbag trimmed with catalin. Like other items in the fashion category such as apparel, jewelry, hats and even shoes, handbags now have acquired distinctive names indicative of the types they are designed to please. Mam'selle bags, which are now being shown in many shops in black, brown, burgundy and other colors, with carved catalin handles or decorations, are generally jaunty in type but not gaudy and as their names indicate, made especially for mam'selle.

WHIMS OF FASHION

Costumes glitter day and night with sequins.

Flowers and plumes will trim headdresses for wear with evening gowns.

Suits for every hour of the day are featured in Paris winter collections.

Suede jewelry is something novel for the sportswear enthusiasts to consider.

Fur-trimmed coats and capes to match tweed suits are selling well in the shops.

Double-breasted sports coats with high revers are featured for autumn by Paris houses.

Exquisitely fine zibelines and zibeline broadcloths (a new description coined this season) make coats for winter formal wear.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Manipulating Velvet.—The usual method of pressing seams, especially in velvet, is to get a second person to hold one end of the material while you hold the other. Flatten out the two sides of the seam, then pass the iron along on the wrong side.

• • •

When Mending Gloves.—Slip a thimble on your finger when mending gloves and the darn can be made very easily.

• • •

Concerning Mirrors. — Never hang a mirror where it faces a glare of light. The back of the mirror should be protected so that no light or water could possibly enter.

• • •

That Breakfast Omelet.—That omelet will not fall if a pinch of powdered sugar and a pinch of cornstarch are added to the omelet mixture.

Advertising Did It

In 1869, when advertising was almost unknown, the total value of manufactured products in the United States amounted to only $3,385,860,354. As a result of creating a demand through advertising the value of our manufactured products increased over a period of 60 years to a total of $70,434,863,443.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

MAKE-UP

Keep your natural coloring and do not change the color of your hair, since artificiality means lack of loveliness.

Whatever your natural coloring may be you can create through make-up which has been properly chosen and experi-been properly chosen and exper-ly applied an individualized type of beauty that will make you outstanding and really lovely to look at.

If you can afford it . go to a really fine Beauty Salon. There you will be studied by experts . a color chart will be made by which you can always be guided in choosing the color and shadings for your make-up. There also the shape of your ead and face will be studied and an individual hair cut or hair drss suggested.

Bu unless you do go to a truly fine Salon which specializes in this type of work, you can do well and profit by being alert and discriminating in your reading along this line and by the practice of consant and careful application and experimentation.

When you have through your hair-dress and make-up brought out the best of your features and subdued your less attractive ones . . the next step to consider is your figure.
